

Law Department

Profile: Type a) fixed-term and full-term researcher contract pursuant to art. 24 of the law n. 240/2010, for the Scientific Disciplinary Sector IUS/17 CRIMINAL LAW, Competition Sector 12/G1 CRIMINAL LAW, Area 12 LEGAL SCIENCES.

Program of teaching, student service and research activities:

The researcher will have to carry out teaching, supplementary activities and student service activities. His recruitment is, for this part, also aimed at promoting the expansion and diversification of the teaching offer that the Law Department and the University intend to develop during the three-year period for the scientific sector object of the selection. The researcher will also have to provide assistance to students in drafting papers for the final exam and master's degree thesis and carry out tutoring activities.

The researcher will have to carry out research activities in the field of criminal law with reference to both the general and special part, with particular attention to the dimension of economic and environmental criminal law.

Scientific productivity objectives: Achievement in the three years from the start of the contract of at least half of the threshold value, envisaged by the 2021 National Scientific Qualification procedure for the role of second level teacher pursuant to Ministerial Decree 589/2018, rounded down, relating to the "number of articles and contributions", considering as the valid time interval for the purposes of calculating the indicators that relating to 1 January of the year the contract was launched. The objectives include publications in scientific journals of recognized prestige, editorial collaboration in scientific or editorial committees for both paper and electronic periodicals, participation in national and international congresses, organization and promotion activities related to the Third University Mission. In any case, during the three-year period, the researcher must publish at least 2 articles in class A or indexed journals or publish a monograph, in order to provide a significant contribution in the next VQR evaluations of the Law Department of the University of Molise.

Headquarters of the activities: Law Department - Campobasso.

Maximum number of publications that the candidate can submit: 12.

Foreign language required: English.

Methods with which the researcher will be required, periodically and at the end of the contract, to report the results of the work carried out: annual report of the teaching and research activities carried out, of the research projects in progress and of the expected results in terms of publications in national journals and international.